

About Thekkingarmidlun Training and Consulting

Thekkingarmidlun Training and Consulting is a meeting place for executives, entrepreneurs, managers and administrative professionals working in private as well as public sectors. Education is at the core of all our activities. Education can be offered in many formats: short and long courses, large and small groups or even individual sessions. Participants can register for public seminars but also for customized learning solutions, designed in close consultation with clients. These tailored solutions are delivered at the location of the client's choice.

The educational setting is very important: learners reach their full potential in a motivating environment which encourages exchange. Seminars, conferences and training courses are led by senior executives, managers, authors, educators and consultants. They're not only skilled platform speakers, but top business practitioners who bring their distinctive insights and practical, real-world experience to every learning encounter. All bring with them many years of expertise plus fresh new ideas and perspectives. Each of our seminar leaders has been selected from a pool of top candidates.

Thekkingarmidlun offers courses in leadership, management, human resources, communication, positive psychology, service management, personal development, and change. Each year, thousands of Icelandic business professionals acquire the latest business know-how, valuable insights and increased confidence at our seminars and conferences.
